A MERCHANT TRAGEDY UNTIL HE KILLS HIS TORMENTOR.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Jeffersonville, Ind., December 7.—Miles Smith, twenty-three years old, a merchant of Jeffersonville, twenty-five miles distant from this city, about 10 o'clock last night shot and mortally wounded William Pettit, twenty-four years old. His victim died within a short time. Pettit had been in the habit of visiting Smith, who was delighted in playing pranks on his companions. On one occasion Pettit and his companions drove a horse into Smith's store, and, despite his protests, the animal was kept in the room during the night. The following morning the horse was driven out. Smith, who has been entertained a deadly hatred toward his tormentors, who continued to torment him in various ways. Last night a number of them gathered in the store, headed by Pettit, and they renewed their "giving." Smith grew impatient and, seeing a hat by killing the leader. The murdered man comes from wealthy parents, and is well known in the county. This morning Smith surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Long, and was brought here and placed in jail to await a preliminary examination.

MORRIS THOMPSON CAPTURED.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Indianapolis, Ind., December 7.—Morris Thompson, last night by chief of police Louis Leuback, of this city, and brought here on a charge of kidnapping a young man, who recently married a young woman of high relations at Greenwood, O., where his parents live, and are quite well known to the authorities of this city, employed Thompson to manage his large stock farm, near here. During his short stay Morris had been in the habit of visiting Thompson, who was appropriating money, he discharged him. After his dismissal, Morris' supply of oats, potatoes, and apples, amounting to over one thousand dollars, was stolen, and detectives traced the crime to Thompson, and apprehending his partner he left the city under an assumed name. Since his arrest it had developed that Thompson had entered into a scheme to defraud McKinstry of his stock and other fine stock that captured the first prize at the World's Fair. He admitted this morning that he was wanted in Ohio for killing a man.

ROBBERY OF $10,000.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Lawrenceburg, Ind., December 7.—Miss Josephine Brand, a school teacher of this city, inherited some money from her father, which, added to her salary, she had accumulated to over $10,000, which she placed on deposit with the Central Trust and Safe Deposit Company of Cincinnati, yesterday she was contacted and drew out her money, placing it in a small hand-satchel, and then started for the depot, intending to take the 10:30 train for home. At the intersection of Fourth street and Central avenue, in a throng of people, some one from the rear jerked the satchel from her grasp, and she fled in a panic, leaving the satchel in the hands of the thief. She was brought to her home in this city last night utterly exhausted from nervous prostration. The police officers are inclined to think that the robbery was the work of a common thief, who had no idea of the richness of his prize.

A LIBRARIAN ENDANGERED.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Kokomo, Ind., December 7.—This city is in danger of losing its public library, which was brought in from the United States court to dispossess the town of the public institution. Five men, who are in the habit of visiting the library, and a retired merchant of this place, donated the library to the city for public use. Shortly thereafter was procured to be insane, and was taken to a sanitarium in Germany for treatment. After returning to America, Mr. Friday, confessed the robbery of the library, and the relations to understand that his action should stand after his death. He died three months ago in Germany, and the relations who went into the courts to have the conveyance set aside. The city is preparing to make a strong fight to save the endowment. The secretary and burglar Leopold Friday, of Athens, and L. Frohman, of Cincinnati, O., relatives of the deceased and executor of the estate.

A Soldier For Terra Haute.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elkhart, Ind., December 7.—It is more than likely that the body of the head-quarters of the "Firemen's Brotherhood" in this city, will be removed to Terra Haute, Ind., by the Railway Union from Chicago to Terra Haute. President Deba favors such a change, and the ground will be broken for inspection, so far as the directors, to be held next week. At the same meeting the accident and death benefits features will be featured by something new to labor organizations. If Terra Haute is selected as headquarters, the Railway Union will be removed to that city for publication.

Differences In the Coal Field.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Carbon, Ind., December 7.—Both the Indiana Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of this State will be represented in the arbitration conference called to meet in Columbus, O., on Monday next, in obedience to a request from operators in the Pittsburgh district, Ohio and Indiana operators will demand similar concessions.

Precedents by Escaping Gas.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Jeffersonville, Ind., December 7.—Carl Galvin went home late last night, and before retiring, he turned off, as he supposed, the gas. He left it flowing, and several rooms in which the family were sleeping were filled with the vapor. Finally Herman Galvin was aroused, and, with great difficulty, he opened, and so found relief. He found that his wife and five children were suffering greatly from the escaping gas. But for his timely interference, there would have been a wholesale asphyxiation. The family is not yet out of danger.

Social Reformation at Frankfort.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Frankfort, Ind., December 7.—The business men of this city, and the members of the Frankfort Club, the object of which is social advancement, and a care for the business interests of the city, have decided to issue a circular. It was issued for a series of years.

COUNCIL'S INVESTIGATION

IT MAY EXTEND TO ALL CITY DEPARTMENTS. Names of Many Witnesses Obtained—Contracts Without Advertising—Expenditures Without Appropriation—Surety.

The members of the Merritt investigation committee have learned the names of witnesses to summon, and it is possible that the investigation will extend to all departments, including the mayor. The committee has been asked particularly to inquire into the purchase of horses for the fire department, and it is possible that the investigation will extend to all departments, including the mayor. A Hunter Horribly Injured.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Morristown, Ind., December 7.—H. Kemper, near here, while hunting yesterday afternoon, accidentally discharged his shotgun as he was in the act of climbing a fence. Both barrels were fired, the contents taking effect in his right hand and in the center of his chest. The pieces, the bones of the arm were shattered and part of his face was blown away. It is impossible for him to recover.

Litigation Yields $100,000.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Michigan City, Ind., December 7.—The contest over the will of the late John Hill, of Laporte, in which he bequeathed his property to his wife, Mrs. William Cochrane and Grace Woodward, of Joliet, Ill., a daughter, and a granddaughter by a former wife, was completed and dismissed yesterday at Laporte. Under the terms of the compromise, the ladies will each receive $50,000.

New Gas Well in Rush County.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Ripley, Ind., December 7.—The new gas well in Ripley township, owned by the People's Natural Gas company of this city, was shot yesterday, developing a flow of gas. The well is located in the center of the township, and the gas is being pumped to the surface. The names of these witnesses were not made known until they were called.

Street Railway Franchise.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elwood, Ind., December 7.—J. E. Jeffries, of this city, and Congressman-elect Henry, of Elwood, Ind., yesterday secured a franchise for a street railway plant at Alexandria. They will build six miles, connecting all the principal factories, and will meet the principal lines at Creston, thus uniting the two cities.

A Student Mentally Unsound.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elkhart, Ind., December 7.—Carl Beardsley, of this city, who is a student at the University of Chicago, was found to be mentally unsound. He was brought to this city last night, and is being cared for in a hospital. The cause of his condition is not known.

An Alleged Murderer Acquitted.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elkhart, Ind., December 7.—Charles Rowan, the city marshal of this city, who shot and killed Rufus Bumfield, of this city, while the latter was resisting arrest for a robbery, was acquitted by the jury trying the case, a verdict being returned to-day. Rowan was indicted for murder.

Eight Cases of Glanders.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Ft. Wayne, Ind., December 7.—The officers of the Indiana State Live Stock Sanitary Commission discovered eight cases of glanders here among horses on the farm of J. W. Way, near this city. The animals were shot this morning. The veterinary surgeons tried to keep the matter quiet.

Assaulted By a Prisoner.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elkhart, Ind., December 7.—William Flower, a "lifer" in the prison shop, yesterday assaulted W. W. Stalling, a resident of this city. Stalling was seriously injured on his head. Stalling was taken to the hospital, and the officers were notified. The city is preparing to make a strong fight to save the endowment.

Stampered to His Death.

Special to the Indianapolis News. Elkhart, Ind., December 7.—Christian Stouder, a prominent farmer near this city, died yesterday afternoon from the effects of a fall from his horse. He was taken to the hospital, but he died before he could be removed. The cause of the fall is not known.

contract for sweeping College avenue, and in answer to his inquiries it was shown that if any extra work was done on that street, the contractors were paid a certain price an hour in addition to the fifteen-cent contract price.

Concerning Definite Charges.

Mr. Merritt at this point caused some surprise in the committee by saying that, in his opinion, the investigation should be confined to some certain points, and not be so widecast, or that there should be some charges made on which the committee could act. Mr. Kramer said that there should be some kind of charges, and that some responsible person should "father" them. Mr. Young declared that already he had been on the street, and he did some whitewashing, that the investigation would be one in name, and not in fact, but for himself, he believed that the investigation should have the widest range possible.

MR. KRAMER EXPLAINS.

Mr. Kramer said that he had been on the street, and he did some whitewashing, that the investigation would be one in name, and not in fact, but for himself, he believed that the investigation should have the widest range possible.

Contracts Without Advertising.

Mr. Kramer denied that the board has ever violated the charter in making the contracts. He said that the board had been let without advertising, but the clerk of the board and the engineer had been let without advertising, but the clerk of the board and the engineer had been let without advertising, but the clerk of the board and the engineer had been let without advertising.

Contracts Without Advertising—Expenditures Without Appropriation.

The office of the Board of Public Works is the office of the Merritt committee and the witnesses, and it was decided to hold the examination in the Council chamber in the future. The meeting was held here yesterday afternoon. The members of the Board of Public Works did not look joyful. They declared that they were not afraid of any investigation, but that it did not look right that men against whom no charges had been made should be put through an inquiry. Mr. Young opened the session.

Condition of South Meridian Street.

Mr. Wildman, I would like to know what the condition of South Meridian street is under contract. I mean to be kept quiet.

Opening of Bids.

None of the members of the board could tell whether the bids for this work had been opened in the office of the engineer, or whether the plans and specifications had been filed as required by charter. All agreed, however, that under the rules of the city, they had a right to make a contract without advertising in a paper for bids, if the work was to be paid for out of the general fund.

MR. WILDMAN TESTIFIES.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Wildman. "I remember now that we thought it best to allow the sand to remain on that street for a few days, and that was done. We aimed to keep that street as clean as any other part of the city."

MR. YOUNG AND MR. ALLEN CONSULT.

Mr. Young asked if the board thought it had a right to make a contract without advertising, and Mr. Allen replied that he did not know. Mr. Young then asked if the board thought it had a right to make a contract without advertising, and Mr. Allen replied that he did not know.

What the Telegraph and Telephone Companies Propose To Do.

The Council committee on railroads has continued till a thorough overhauling has been given every department. Neither technicians nor politicians, the members say, will be allowed to interfere with the work of the board. The number of the contractors will be cited to appear before the committee and from time to time concerning public improvements.

Mr. Kramer's Dream.

"Mr. Kramer, haven't you a factory situated on the line of the Merrill street sewer?" inquired Mr. Young.

Did You Have a Sewer or Drain Run from the Sewer to Your Factory?

"I did," said Mr. Kramer.

Did You Have an Understanding with the Contractor that the Work Should Be Done?

"Yes, I told him to make it and send me a bill, and I would pay for that out of my own pocket. I had no contract with him, but told him to put in the drain and send me a bill, and he would have a right to be paid, and he said about 30 cents a foot."

Did You Know anything about the Crack in the Sewer at Delaware Street?

"I certainly did. I told the contractor that he would have to flush out the ditches and see that the excavation was well taken care of. If he didn't, he would have a right to be paid, and he said about 30 cents a foot."

THE WHEAT MARKET IS WEAK, AND CORN STRONG.

Chicago and Indianapolis Live Stock Markets—Stock Gossip—Daily Chicago Letter—General Markets—Quotations.

The wheat market was weak to-day with mild holders the best sellers. The cables were weak and receipts in the Northwest large.

Corn was strong on the soft weather and small receipts.

Oats were dull but prices were firm. Provisions quiet.

New York stocks were strong both the railroad list and the industrial, with sugar leading in the advance.

The World's Wheat Trade.

The Liverpool Corn Trade News, in its annual report, just issued, offers an exhaustive exhibit of the world's wheat trade, past, present and prospective.

The tabular statement, showing for twenty years the annual production of wheat, uniformly is not only the most reliable returns for some of the larger countries are not procurable prior to 1885, however, the data for wheat is very important, and any deductions that will not be actually indicated by the discrepancies.

Aggregate yield of Production. When annually, ton per Periods. Population, in capita.

Production of wheat and rye both of which are usually 7.08. The result is rather surprising, for, instead of there being shown a general increase in the wheat crop, the reverse appears to be the case.

The Crop Outlook.

CARLISLE'S MONEY SCHEME

St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.). It is easy to see that the country will not take kindly to the Carlisle scheme. In providing two new sorts of money it makes a breach in the country's credit.

whatever circulates as money is in effect a legal tender for all debts, except in special and infrequent cases. The present system, by which the Government stands behind every piece of money in the country, including bank bills, pledged to maintain it at par with all other money, has worked so well for over thirty years that the American people will not let the system be destroyed to please the advocates of the wild-cat theory.

Compared With the Baltimore Plan

Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.). The plan of the Baltimore plan adopted by Mr. Carlisle are essentially modified by other provisions. The great point of divergence is in the guarantee fund, which is to consist of greenbacks or Treasury notes of 1890, equal to 30 per cent of the circulation. This provision affords much better security to the Government than the Baltimore plan, which is important, and it affords another use for the greenbacks than drawing gold out of the Treasury, for which they are now largely employed. Elastically the currency is to be secured by the issue of notes to withdraw a ratable amount of the greenback deposited.

Tends Toward Inflation

New York Tribune (Rep.). Experience has taught that the power to issue paper without security held inevitably leads to excessive issue, and such issues always create a fictitious demand for the time by stimulating speculation and inflating prices, and that a credit system which issues paper without security is sure to follow. Free banking is a sure way to inflation. Government issues during the war taught the same lesson. If all banks were wise and honestly managed, but they are not. The assumption that they would issue only against "healthy business" is childish. It was thought healthy business, like more than a year ago, to lend money on wheat at about 80 cents, and in consequence it has averaged since July 1 less than 60 cents. It was thought "healthy business" in Southern cities, and by some of the best bankers, to risk millions on the West, and it is now below 5 cents. Throughout the West it has real estate at "boom" prices, which have since been cut down so much that the real estate at $100,000, west of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio on about six cents last year.

Improves On the Baltimore Plan

New York World (Dem.). The basic proposal for the national bank circulation is the capital of the banks, the notes that may be issued to be in the aggregate 75 per cent of the business capital. This plan gives an abundance of money, much more than needed or than can profitably be absorbed by the banks on the country's present volume of business. The experience of the country in 1893 proved that there is need of elasticity. If such a system as that which Mr. Carlisle advocates had been in operation, business men would not have been obliged to purchase currency for their weekly needs. The banks under such a system would issue notes as long as they were demanded by merchants in good faith, and the notes would not be taken if the banks would return to the bank the notes they were no longer needed in business. This is the simple philosophy underlying the new plan.

A Currency Commission Advocated

New York Herald (Ind.). We fail to see how such a scheme as this would take the Government out of the banking business. The Treasury would continue to provide all the smaller circulating notes, and the banks would provide the larger ones. The bulk of the annoying legal tenders would remain to be issued by the Government. The Treasury every time it was needed for hoarding or export, as at present. If all the national banks as they exist today should take out the maximum circulation allowed under this scheme, the amount would be $200,000,000 (as against the present total of $300,000,000), and the proposed deposit of 30 per cent in legal tenders would take up little more than $60,000,000 of them, leaving $140,000,000 outstanding to play the market, with the Treasury's gold. Even the small amount taken up for deposit would be cancelled. This plan, then, neither relieves the Government from banking nor retires the legal tenders. To permit the issue of notes by both State and national banks would institute two systems with a conflict of jurisdiction. In case a bank's condition became questionable it is easy to conceive what might happen with two sets of owners, and the question of pending whether the State or Federal authorities should take possession of the assets. Mr. Carlisle appears to have endeavored to make some concessions to the State, and every one of the groups in Congress. Those of the West and South who demand State bank circulation he would conciliate by granting this privilege, but under the condition which would make the operation of the law impossible. To the intelligent people of the country who uphold the gold basis and demand the retirement of legal tenders, he caters with a partial and temporary retreat for a mere fraction of them, not going far enough to relieve the Treasury of the banking business or protect the gold reserve from attack. Those who clamor for a wider use of silver, he tries to please by abolishing all bank notes of less than ten dollars.

each one as to make room for more silver certificates, and for those who protest that the Government ought not to guarantee bank circulation he provides that under his plan the banks shall virtually guarantee one another. In short he has tried to please everybody and will satisfy nobody. Viewed in this way, Mr. Carlisle's scheme is a fair reflection of the conflicting ideas of the various groups in Congress, and as a matter of practical politics it is clear that no such law for reconstruction of the currency and banking system could be passed at this time.

"She is determined to be a musician, but can't decide whether to make a specialty of the violin or the piano."
"Has she no positive predilection for either?"
"Oh, yes, but some of her friends think she looks better standing, and others that sitting is more becoming to her."

Two Stepping Stones

to consumption are ailments we often deem trivial—a cold and a cough. Consumption thus acquired is rightly termed "Consumption from neglect." To permit the issue of notes by both State and national banks would institute two systems with a conflict of jurisdiction. In case a bank's condition became questionable it is easy to conceive what might happen with two sets of owners, and the question of pending whether the State or Federal authorities should take possession of the assets. Mr. Carlisle appears to have endeavored to make some concessions to the State, and every one of the groups in Congress. Those of the West and South who demand State bank circulation he would conciliate by granting this privilege, but under the condition which would make the operation of the law impossible. To the intelligent people of the country who uphold the gold basis and demand the retirement of legal tenders, he caters with a partial and temporary retreat for a mere fraction of them, not going far enough to relieve the Treasury of the banking business or protect the gold reserve from attack. Those who clamor for a wider use of silver, he tries to please by abolishing all bank notes of less than ten dollars.

Scott's Emulsion

not only stops a cold but it is remarkably successful where the cough has become deep seated. Scott's Emulsion is the richest of fat-foods yet the easiest fat-food to take. It arrests waste and builds up healthy flesh.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Spider and the Fly." "The Spider and Fly" company furnished an evening of pleasant entertainment last night at English's Opera House. This was the only performance here of this piece for the season. There are several sweet-voiced women in the company, many bright faces and a general ability to make the performance a successful one was manifest. The Clayton sisters and Miss Anna Suits were especially attractive. Miss Chase has an excellent contralto voice, and sings with taste. The main interest of the evening naturally centered in Richard T. Brown, partly because of his former residence here, and partly because of the exceedingly clever work he did. Mr. Brown is both original and versatile. He is a capital singer and between the verses of his songs introduces novel bits of "business," which greatly enliven the performance. His many friends in the large audience present recalled him again and again; he made a great hit.

"Across the Potomac" at the Park. Augustus Pitou and Edward M. Alfriend are the joint-authors of "Across the Potomac," a five-act military drama which is being put on at the Park Theatre. The scenes change from the home-life in Massachusetts to the "Old Dominion" State. The story is one of love, and ending for the first time a Virginia girl; one of them a captain of the Northern army; the other of equal rank in the service of the South. His uniform is gray, the stars and stripes and the stars and bars intermingling on several fields, and which carry the interest to the end. The cast is a large one. The rival captains are played by the first-class actors, Frank Walcott, Miss Rose Anthon, and Frank Walcott. Miss Rose Anthon, of graceful figure and pretty speech, is the heroine, Edgar Foreman and Julia West enliven the play with their comedy work, and John H. Mack, an old hand, was not a vacant seat, and standing room was in demand. The play will be repeated to-night, and there will be two performances to-morrow.

Concert at Plymouth Church. A good program was rendered last night at Plymouth church by the Schuylkill Symphony Club, an organization of which P. Opperman is director. The concert opened with the overture to "Summer Night's Dream," by Suppe. This was followed by the first movement of Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony." The singer for the evening was Miss Kate Elliott, of Louisville, who gave several selections. In the "scene de ballet," from Beriot, Alvin Schellschmidt displayed talent as a violinist. There was a good-sized audience present.

"Life in the Arctic." Walter Thomas Swain will lecture to-night at the Third Christian church, Home avenue and Ash street, on "Life in the Arctic." Mr. Swain was a member of Lieutenant Peary's expedition to the extreme north, where he met with some thrilling adventures. Once he was endangered by the first movement of an ice floe and drifted out to sea, apparently to certain death. The unexpected rescue of the expedition was an event which none of the party will ever forget. Mr. Swain tells the story in a graphic and interesting manner. He will deliver the same lecture at No. 1010 next week.

CAUGHT! The "Clans" Have Made Their Bow, and Are Now the Acceptables. "The Gathering Clans," represented in the beautiful display of Scotch plaid neckwear in Paul H. Krause's show window, have caught on. They are the correct thing in style and color and all "up to date" people are buying them. Delicate and fine and the best materials, they are naturally very acceptable to every one of good taste. Mr. Krause is showing a full line of holiday smoking jackets, umbrellas, etc. Fancy canes, jewelry, hat ribbons, slippers and gloves, markethings and novelties usual to a complete haberdashery.
